DETROIT—(P)—Under the battle cry, "It's time for a housecleaning," Michigan Republicans rallied here last night, with 1,500 paying $150-a-plate to fatten the party's war chest.

Senator Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) told them "It's time for a smashing Republican victory" and bitterly criticized President Truman.

Quoting the one-time New Jersey mayor and political boss, Frank Hague, as once saying, "I am the law," Dirksen added: "Truman well might have been the author of that remark."

"Look to the record," Dirksen told the diners. "An undeclared war in Korea, troops in Europe, the seizure of the steel mills. What a fuzzy and deceitful thing it is."

Sherman A. Hill, co-chairman of the banquet, said Dirksen, a supporter of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) for

Jackson Prison Rule Toughened

LANSING — (P) — Southern Michigan prison officials today were pushing the job of restoring order under a toughened policy statement issued by Governor Williams.

The governor issued a directive to corrections commissioner Ernest C. Brooks in which he said prison officials "will be provided with all the necessary assistance from the forces at my disposal" for "completing the restoration of order and discipline" in the riot-torn prison.

He also announced he had accepted the offer of state police commissioner Donald S. Leonard to postpone his scheduled May 1 retirement during the prison emergency.

The following policies were ordered into effect in the prison:

"1—Infractions of prison rules and regulations will be punished in the regular manner.

"2—Any possession of weapons or other contraband subsequent to completion of the search now in progress for riot weapons is to be promptly punished.

"3—Insolence to guards, state police or other prison officials is to be punished in the regular manner.

"4—Regular procedures for individual security detention at Jackson or elsewhere will be carried out as required by the circumstances."

Ford Has $300,000,000 Contract For Making Still Secret Tanks

DETROIT—(P)—The Ford Motor Co. said today its contracts for producing the still-secret T-48 tanks for the Army Ordnance Corps now total more than $300,000,000.

That is nearly triple the original tank order, the company said, since the first $180,000,000 order included the cost of tooling Ford's big new tank plant at Livonia.

Production will be underway by the end of this year, Ford said.

Alger Spends Bonus On Michigan Flags For Outfits In Korea

LANSING — (P)—Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr. said today he had spent all but $7.20 of his World War II veterans' bonus of $500 to buy Michigan flags for Michigan men in the armed forces.

Alger said he had bought 22 flags at a cost of $22.40 each. Eighteen of the flags went to outfits in Korea, he said.

Ruling On Steel Industry Seizure Expected Today

DYING MOTHER FINDS HOME FOR SONS—Mrs. Evelyn Paro, 44, cancer victim, and sons Gerald, 6, (left) and Gordon, 9, (right), of Duluth, Minn., pose for what may be their last picture together. Doctors have told Mrs. Paro she has only a few weeks left to live and through an appeal in a Duluth newspaper she has chosen foster parents who will provide a home and careers for her two sons after she dies. Until her illness became critical, she worked days as a bookkeeper and nights as a waitress to provide for the boys. The father, divorced shortly after Gerald was born, has never returned. ## Navy Investigates Sea Disaster Which Took Lives Of 174

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Navy arranged today for a formal inquiry into the mid-Atlantic sinking of the destroyer-minesweeper Hobson with an apparent loss of 174 lives. It was one of the worst peacetime disasters in American Naval history.

Meanwhile, the 27,100-ton aircraft carrier Wasp, damaged in the Saturday night collision that sent the Hobson to the bottom, steamed slowly homeward. She carried the minesweeper's 61 survivors, some of them injured seriously.

No Casualties On Wasp

Traveling between eight to ten knots, the carrier was expected to reach Brooklyn Navy Yard for repairs on Friday or Saturday.

The original list of 176 missing in the tragedy was reduced by two when two sailors whose names appeared on it turned up safe. They had missed their ship's last voyage—one man being home on leave, the other in a Naval hospital. No casualties were reported aboard the Wasp.

There still was some confusion over the exact number missing because of a duplication of at least two names.

Adm. Lynde McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, announced in Norfolk that a formal court of inquiry would "make a full investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the sinking."

Ship In Poor Shape?

The time and location of the court will be announced shortly after the Wasp arrives in the United States, McCormick said.

A Naval court of inquiry is empowered to take sworn testimony, find facts, express opinions and make recommendations, but it cannot impose punishment.

A demand for a Congressional probe came from the father of one of the missing men who said his son had told him all the enlisted men aboard the Hobson feared she "would crack up, either in heavy seas or by hitting something in the water."

Ervin S. White Sr. of Lynn, Mass., said his son told him the ship broke down several times while on cruises and was in drydock last March and again in April.

Rear Adm. W. V. O'Regan issued a statement in Norfolk denying a published report that the Hobson was unfit for sea duty. He said the ship had been inspected carefully April 2 and $24,000 had been spent in bringing the Hobson "up to the high standards demanded by the board of inspection and safety."

Foreign Aid Bill Getting Slashed

WASHINGTON — (P)—A Senate committee has whacked an even billion dollars off the $7,900,000,000 foreign aid bill and a Republican leader predicted today a strong floor move would be made almost to double this cut.

The Foreign Relations group voted 9-3 late yesterday to reduce the bill to $6,900,000,000—a 12.66 per cent slash to be distributed evenly among all items in the measure.

Sen. Bridges (N-H), the minority leader, told a reporter a floor effort would be made to trim further to six billion dollars. He said the move would win wide support but he did not predict certain victory.

The bill authorizes extension of the Mutual Security program for fiscal 1953 starting July 1. It carries allotments for American Allies all over the world.

Administration supporters had been saying privately they would consider it a victory if the reduction were held to a billion dollars.

Marines To Face Big Atom Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (P)—Two marine combat battalions sweated out the weather today, waiting for their first test of atomic fire.

If clouds lift, the 2100 men from Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Camp Lejeune, N. C., will take positions 3½ to 4 miles from an A-bomb bursting at perhaps 2,000 feet above Yucca Flat tomorrow morning.

This would put them closer than 1,500 army troops last week. The soldiers were in roughly the same positions, but the explosion occurred at 3,500 feet.

After the blast, the Marines will make an "attack landing" on Yucca Island, a mythical enemy-held atoll in the middle of the desert flat.

"We want to show each Marine that an atomic weapon can be a powerful friend as well as a feared enemy," said Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Camp Pendleton, the maneuver director. "We also want to prove there is still plenty of need for the individual rifleman."

Marine-clad dummies will be placed behind machineguns and artillery pieces in the forward area. Tanks, trucks and other material will be tested close to ground zero.

Wage Increase Awaits Federal Court Decision

WASHINGTON — (P) — The government's chief attorney in the steel seizure case said today he does not claim that President Truman holds unlimited powers.

Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldridge asserted, in a statement filed with the Federal District Court here, that if that court had understood such a claim to have been made, he desired to correct it.

Legality Defended

Baldridge represented the government last week in arguments before District Judge David A. Pine on the plea of steel companies that the court nullify the Presidential seizure of the steel industry.

Pine's ruling could come today, but court attaches said it might not be ready until tomorrow.

Baldridge argued before Judge Pine that Truman had acted properly to protect the public welfare under "inherent powers" held by the chief executive. He said then that the constitution limits the legislative and judicial branches, but not the executive authority.

This argument drew a storm of protests from steel company lawyers—as well as many in Congress later—and Baldridge was subjected to close questioning on the point by Judge Pine.

Showdown Pushed

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, met to consider a batch of Republican-sponsored proposals for Truman's impeachment or censure for the seizure action. GOP members pressed for a showdown on the proposals.

Steel firms brought the case seeking an injunction for return of their property. Truman placed the mills under government control April 8 when CIO steelworkers threaten a nationwide strike.

The issues before Judge Pine were whether the steel companies were right in their contention that Truman lacked legal authority to seize their plants, or whether the President was right in claiming both the power and duty for his action.

Government officials awaited Pine's decision before ordering a wage increase for steelworkers into effect over the industry's objections.

Price Increase $3

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, nominally in charge of the seized industry, was expected to notify steel firms today they may apply for an average $3-a-ton price increase if they wished.

That is the limit the government says steel prices can be raised under stabilization rules. The industry says $3 is inadequate to pay for the 26-cent-an-hour over-all cost of wage increases and other benefits recommended by the government's Wage Stabilization Board.

Pay Raise Refused

GRAND RAPIDS — (P)—The city commission, by a 5 to 2 vote last night, denied a request by city employees for a 20 per cent wage increase. Mayor Paul G. Goebel said the commission had decided after considerable study that the wages of city employees had "kept up with cost-of-living increases."

Congressmen Criticize Clark, Named Successor To Ridgway

WASHINGTON — (P)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway's appointment to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower drew mostly applause today, but Gen. Mark Clark, who gets Ridgway's old command, faced criticism in Congress.

In the Pentagon, the top-level reassignments—Ridgway from Far East command to head of Allied forces in Europe, and Clark from chief of army field forces to Far East command—were viewed by some officials as:

1. Results of a decision by President Truman to side with Gen. Omar Bradley instead of Eisenhower in choosing the new commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces.

2. Rewards to both Ridgway and Clark for past jobs well done.

Rapidly Recalled

The criticism of Clark came from Sen. Long (D-La.), a member of the Armed Services committee. He told a reporter he wants to review previous congressional investigations of Clark's Clark's crossing of the Rapido River during the Italian campaign has been under previous congressional fire. Bitter criticism of the maneuver was voiced by members of the Texas National Guard, which suffered heavy casualties.

"I was in that area with the Navy at the time of the Rapido crossing," Long said, "and I know that many of the officers with whom I associated did not think too highly of Clark's ability as a field commander."

"What we need in Korea now is a field commander, not a diplomat, and I have some reservations about the Clark appointment."

However, Sen. McFarland of

Body Of Tom Rushton Found In River Near Mt. Pleasant Monday

(Special to the Press)

The body of Thomas Rushton, 47, of Lansing, son of the late Herbert J. Rushton, former attorney general of Michigan, was found floating in the Chippewa River at Mt. Pleasant Monday afternoon. He disappeared at Mt. Pleasant on February 27.

Dr. Laurin Kassa, pathologist, reported after an autopsy that Rushton apparently drowned. He said that there were no indications of foul play, but vital organs were being sent to state laboratories at Lansing for a final check.

On Business Trip

Rushton was an employee of the State Highway Department and disappeared shortly after arriving at Mt. Pleasant from Lansing on state business February 27. The body was found a mile and a half downstream from the Earle hotel into which he checked but never occupied a room.

The state-owned car that he drove to Mt. Pleasant was found parked on a Mt. Pleasant street several days after his disappearance.

Attorney Rushton was born in Manchester, Mich., in 1905. He was a graduate of Escanaba High School, Detroit College of Law and Toledo University. He was associated in the practice of law with his father for several years and was an assistant attorney general from 1939 to 1941. He

Governor Lying, Senator Claims

LANSING—(P)—Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) accused Governor Williams today of "lying" about the effect of the Higgins used car use tax bill which Williams has vetoed.

The bill would have imposed a tax on the transfer of a used car title equal to three per cent of the sales value, instead of the current three per cent sales tax on used car sales. Higgins said it would produce $12,000,000 a year but Williams estimated only $4,100,000.

Higgins said Williams must be responsible now for the state's shrinking cash supply. He advised creditors to send their bills to the governor when the state goes broke.

"When the governor vetoed the used car title transfer tax," Higgins said, "he gave millions of dollars to the tax cheats and chislers who are avoiding sales taxes on used cars."

"Last year," Higgins said, "Williams said he opposed the used car tax because it did not exempt the isolated sale. We corrected that. This year, he said, it would hurt the schools and cities. We gave them 20 per cent of all collections. He still vetoed the bill and he will find any excuse to protect the chislers. No money was taken away from the schools. When the governor says that, he is lying."

Girl Stowaways Pine For Home On Guam Island

GUAM—(P)—Two girls stowaways who were lured to this far Pacific Island by their "love of excitement and adventure" just want to go home. But that's 6,000 miles long!

As Jerie McDaniel, 26, Walnut Grove, Calif., and Maxine Allen, 23, Tacoma, Wash., toured Guam today, they gave considerable thought to their dilemma. Then, with tears in their eyes they told U. S. Attorney James Mackey they wanted to go home.

But Mackey said the only way he can send them back is to place charges and return them as prisoners—"and we don't want to do that."

The Navy, in charge of Guam's defense, says it's an Air Force matter.

Dave Daddy of San Francisco, immigration officer, says the girls didn't violate any immigration laws.

The government of Guam says they are welcome to stay.

There is no agency here with money to finance the return trip.

The girls haven't enough money to pay their own way. And they can't expect help from the two airmen they said smuggled them aboard the B-29. The Air Force says it may file charges against Airmen Dewey M. Meeks, Greenwood, Miss., and Robert L. Quick, Rifle, Colo.

Mackey said the girls may be given temporary employment here to help pay their own way home.

Compromise Offer For Korean Truce Given Communists

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—Korean truce talks were in complete recess today for the first time in five months. The United Nations Command waited for Communist reaction to a secret Allied proposal for an armistice.

It is up to the Communists to set the date of the next meeting. Presumably the Reds will make no move until a decision has been reached in Peiping and Pyongyang, and possibly in Moscow, on what to do about the plan the Allies delivered Monday.

All In One Package

The proposal was described officially as "an over-all solution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice."

That means it wrapped up in one package the dispute over how to exchange prisoners of war, the Red demand for the right to rebuild their war-wrecked military airfields, and Communist nomination of Russia as a truce supervisor.

There was widespread belief that the proposal centered on prisoner exchange.

Last Bid For Armistice

The Chicago Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, said Tuesday the Allies offered to approve rebuilding of airfields in North Korea during a truce if the Communists will be satisfied with the return of three out of five prisoners of war.

The dispatch, written by Frederick Kuh, said:

"Allied experts in Washington think there is better than a 50-50 chance that after further tough bargaining an armistice will be

SALT LAKE CITY—(P)—Thousands of workers battled Utah's worst flood crisis in history today, attempting to control surging streams fed by melting snow.

The flood waters knocked out a railroad bridge, ripped out a dam, drove families from their homes, blocked highway traffic and continued to spread over farmlands.

At Nephi, an 11-year-old boy tumbled into the Big Hollow Creek, and was swept downstream. The youngster, Kirk Sanders, was rescued unharmed, however. First reports were that he drowned.

The Utah floods form a patchwork pattern. It's quite unlike the Midwest floods where a major river knocks out levees along miles of its course. In Utah, several rivers and creeks are hammering at scattered areas. Other regions are free of floods.

Streets in Salt Lake City were sandbagged into emergency canals to carry off the overflow from several canyons to the east in the Wasatch Mountains.

The Jordan River, carrying the west side Salt Lake City runoff into the Great Salt Lake spilled over its banks near the Salt Lake county fairgrounds.

Purdue Students Raid Sorority Houses For Under-Souvenirs

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(AP)—About 500 Purdue University students raided Sorority houses for souvenir undergarments last night and brought out 30 police.

One student, released after questioning, told police the idea sprang from a magazine article about similar forays in other schools. Some of the men were carrying women's panties and brassieres.

Just as a dinner program broke up in Wood Hall, a women's dormitory, bugle calls and firecrackers brought 300 to 400 men out of their dormitory Cary Hall.

Two co-eds suffered slight cuts when a window was broken at the Pi Beta Phi Sorority House.

Police Chief Jay Watson of West La Fayette said there was some minor damage at five Sorority houses and at Wood Hall, all in an area west of the campus. The rampage was quelled in about two and a half hours. Watson said some fraternity men tried to stop the demonstrators.

Police picked up identification papers from a number of students and turned them over to Dr. Donald Mallett, director of student affairs.

Mallett said the students will be subject to action by the faculty-student council on student affairs.

Chief Watson said none of the men was arrested.

Absentee Ballots Will Be Available To Men In Service

To assure men and women in the armed services overseas receiving absentee voters ballots for the Aug. 5 state primary election, Escanaba City Clerk George Harvey today suggested that parents inform those in service to request the ballots of his office.

When the requests are received they will be placed on file. As soon as the ballots are printed the absent voters ballots will be mailed to the applicants, assuring them of receiving their ballots in time so they may be voted and returned before Aug. 5.

Unless this is done the earlier state primary election may make it impossible for those in service overseas to obtain ballots and return them in time to be counted.

Traffic Survey May Show That Signal Lights Are Ill-Timed

WE are unfamiliar with the full scope of the duties and responsibilities of the new Escanaba Safety Council but if the operation of traffic signals comes within their province of authority, we certainly hope the Safety Council conducts a thorough survey of the purposes and effects of the traffic signals in Escanaba.

We believe that traffic signals are desirable and that they serve a worthwhile purpose. However, we do not believe that a traffic problem is solved simply by erecting a traffic light at one or more intersections without regard to their timing or without regard to fitting the signals into existing traffic conditions.

For instance, we believe that a study of traffic conditions in Escanaba will show that the operation of the traffic lights at 11th and 14th street intersections with Ludington Street are an impediment to traffic after six o'clock in the evening, except on Fridays.

We believe further that a survey will show that the traffic light at the intersection of Washington Avenue and N. 12th Avenue can be justified only during the periods when school children are crossing the street. We believe it is ridiculous to maintain light signals at this intersection as late as four a. m., since the cross traffic on 12th Avenue N. is nil at this hour.

We believe that the traffic lights at the 11th and 14th street intersections with Ludington Street should be synchronized and timed so that a motorist travelling on Ludington Street at a legal rate of speed should not be required to stop at both intersections.

We may be wrong in these beliefs but we think that only a conscientious survey will accurately determine the effects of the traffic lights on the Escanaba traffic problem. Such a survey has never been made, to the best of our knowledge.

Stassen Story One Of Over-Ambition

HAROLD E. STASSEN'S story is one of the saddest case histories on the recent American political scene. It is a supreme example of what can happen to a man when he is bitten by presidential ambitions.

At 31, Stassen was an aggressive governor of Minnesota with a bright future. In his mid-forties he is a forlorn figure with no political prospects at all. And that because he allowed his higher yearnings to consume him.

In the light of his record at Minnesota, his service in the Navy, and his performance as a delegate at the United Nations charter conference in San Francisco, Stassen deserved a chance at the presidency.

Friends built him up for that opportunity by proposing him in 1944 while he was still in the Pacific. Nobody took his candidacy too seriously that time nor was it intended they should.

Four years later Stassen made his real bid. He had begun by avowing his candidacy two years before nominating time. He pounded back and forth across the country in vigorous pursuit of convention support.

His early fortune was not bad. He won primaries in Wisconsin and Nebraska, then captured Pennsylvania on a write-in. Thereafter, however, he seemed to over-reach himself. He claimed 14 or 15 delegates in contest against Senator Taft in his native Ohio but won only nine. Next came his Oregon debacle.

Governor Dewey of New York lacerated Stassen in a radio debate over a bill designed to control Communists in America. Dewey's Oregon stumping outpaced Stassen's. Dewey won that primary and the 1948 boom for Stassen ended forthwith.

Ohio was actually the start of his downfall but it was that unsuccessful radio debate in Oregon which hurt him in public eyes. For there it was revealed that Stassen did not really understand the subject he was discussing. He appeared concerned only with the impact he was making on the voters.

His entire 1952 campaign has been characterized by this same feature. Stassen has endeavored to be all things to all men. He has promised a great deal. He has in one breath sounded like a stalking horse for General Eisenhower and in the next sounded like his own man. He has sought to make himself a rallying point for discontent of all sorts, however vague and ill-defined.

In this latter respect he is the Henry Wallace of 1952. The effort was doomed from the start.

The Doctor Says... More Employers Are Proving Handicapped Workers' Value

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

It is claimed that there are nearly one-quarter of a million persons in the United States whose difficulty with hearing is a real handicap in getting or holding a job.

The scope of the hearing problem is therefore enormous, particularly in these days when everyone who can be usefully employed should be making a contribution towards helping this country to meet its problems.

As has been emphasized in this column and in many other places, we should strive to prevent deafness whenever possible, but there will always be some who develop difficulty with their hearing and who will need help from hearing aids, speech training, job placement, or in other ways.

Many agencies, both private and public, are helping in this problem, and the outlook for someone who has difficulty with hearing is much better than it used to be, both from the standpoint of personal comfort, and economic well-being.

Employers have become increasingly aware over the years of the fact that they can hire workers with some physical defect, including difficulty with hearing, and that if they are properly placed, these persons make a real contribution to their employers. Of course, such employees are economically much more independent than they would otherwise be.

It is important, however, that those who are somewhat deaf are really able to carry out the work to which they are assigned, and this sometimes involves special training.

AGENCIES FIND JOBS

Fortunately, there are agencies now at work which help the hard-of-hearing to fit themselves for jobs within their capabilities and also to find such jobs when they are ready for them.

This is a great contribution to the well-being of the country as well as to the individual involved, and it is particularly encouraging that so many employers in recent years have taken an enlightened view towards the useful occupation of those who are physically handicapped, including those who are handicapped by hearing difficulty.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A lot of people are still speculating that President Truman may change his mind and consent to be drafted by the Democratic national convention at the last minute—especially if the Republicans nominate Taft whom the President does not like.

A close friend of Mr. Truman's, who once served under him as an ambassador and accompanied him to Potsdam, had this in mind when he told him that he should not put himself in the position where he could not ultimately be drafted. The situation might be such, this elder statesman cautioned, where the demands of the party would be too compelling.

"You know me," replied the President decisively. "I'm a mule. And when I make up my mind nothing can change it."

TRUMAN'S WORD REVERBERATES

Chip Bohlen, State Department counselor, walked in to the State Department staff conference at 12:30 last Thursday with perturbation written over his usually suave visage.

"Hold your hats," he exclaimed, then told how the President had dropped a diplomatic bombshell at his press conference regarding an alleged "ultimatum" to Russia in 1946. Since our European Allies are on constant tenderhooks over our trigger-happy relations with Russia and constantly worry that we will drag them into war by just such an ultimatum, the State Department worked for about two hours preparing a diplomatic refutation of the President's off-the-cuff remark.

The State Department couldn't say so, but it was equally unhappy about the President's previous burble about the possibility of seizing the press.

Though he corrected this later, the State Department feared it might affect the fate of the freest and fairest newspaper in Bolivia, La Razon. The new Bolivian government, which is pro-Argentine and has some Communist links, may well follow the example of Peron and seize La Razon exactly as he seized La Prensa.

U. S. FOR FREE PRESS

On top of this, American diplomats for some time have been arguing in the United Nations for complete freedom of the press. Not all Latin American governments agree with the United States on this point. Several have joined Middle East and Asiatic countries in trying to get the U. N. to adopt an amendment which would require newspapers to print statements by governments "correcting" supposedly erroneous news. These amendments, in the opinion of the State Department, would be an infringement of the press and could be expanded to mean government interference.

Therefore, when the chief executive of the United States announced that he has the power when he sees fit to take over or control the press, it put him in direct contradiction to his own official representatives abroad.

Remarkable one Latin American editor who had been listening to American delegates argue for international press freedom:

"Maybe the U. S. press had better start worrying about laws to protect itself on the national level rather than on the international level."

MASSACHUSETTS PRIMARY

The Massachusetts primary today will be a tougher test of the American voters' intelligence than even that in Nebraska. In Nebraska it was necessary for write-in voters to spell correctly the full name of "Dwight Eisenhower." If they misspelled either name, or used "Ike" instead of "Dwight," their vote was ruled out. The name "Robert Taft" also had to be spelled correctly, but this was a lot easier.

In Massachusetts today, however, voters have to know in advance and memorize the delegates pledged to Eisenhower. Taft's delegates are tagged with the label "pledged to Senator Taft," but Eisenhower's aren't. In fact, his name appears nowhere on the ballot. This is because Massachusetts is a "written consent" state and a candidate's name appears on the ballot only with his written consent.

But what really makes the ballot confusing is that Taft managers have entered a second set of delegates in several districts in order to befuddle the voters and make their memory test more difficult.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK KNEW

Most of the Truman cabinet were caught completely off base when their chief made his dramatic Jackson-Jefferson dinner announcement that he would not run again. But Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in far-off Formosa had been informed in advance.

20 YEARS AGO

Chicago—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker asserted that the United States was losing the war and that Americans would have to develop "a new combat spirit" if they hoped to win it.

Washington, D. C.—In a "fireside chat" President Roosevelt told a large radio audience of the war's economic impact on every American and declared that the price of preserving civilization must be paid "in hard work and sorrow and blood."

High Taxes Help Uncork Bootleg Boom To Offset Gambling Losses

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Bootlegging, which has been increasing steadily and alarmingly since the end of World War II, now threatens to zoom back to its prohibition-day prominence as the country's No. 1 illicit industry.

New profit incentives and the influx of big-time gangsters into the racket are the causes, according to claims of congressional crime experts, local alcohol law enforcement agencies and spokesmen for the U. S. Alcohol Tax Unit.

Today, according to Ralph T. Heymsfeld, a representative of the Schenley Industries, Inc., close to half of all the whiskey drunk in the U.S. is bootleg stuff. He blames it on the high $10.50 per gallon federal tax on whiskey. The consumption of legal whiskey has dropped 25 per cent since the tax increase of last year.

"Bootlegging is back as a big business controlled by the syndicates," says Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D., Md.) who served as a member of the Kefauver crime committee and then took over as chairman when Kefauver quit. "It's back because the heat is on gambling and narcotics," he says, "and the racketeers are going to have to substitute income from bootlegging to keep going."

This is backed by a spokesman from the ATU who says there is mounting evidence of highly organized gang techniques recently being introduced into the moonshine business. Where one or two men used to brew up a batch back in the hills, drive it into town and peddle it themselves, today you are finding big business specialization in the racket.

One group makes the stuff along scientific lines, he explains. Another outfit does nothing but the delivering to the specialized group who handle the final sales.

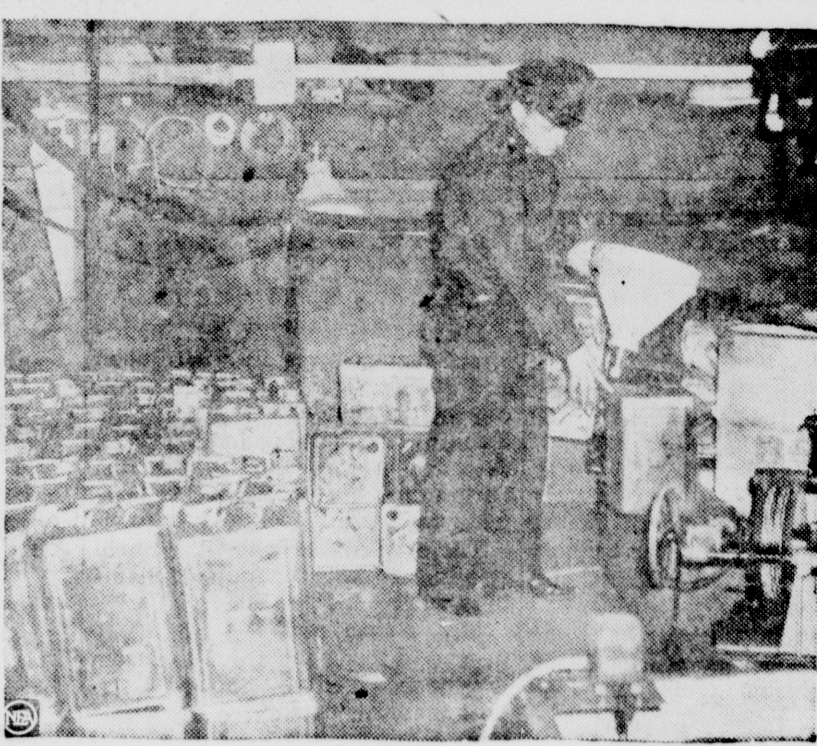

This is evidence of growing syndicate control. He estimates that within a year the big-time racketeers could have a virtual monopoly of bootlegging. Up until now it has been an over-all big business run by a lot of independent small-time crooks, and mostly in the southern states. It is rapidly spreading up north.

ATU figures only tell part of the story because they don't include raids by state and local officers. But they do show the increase. Biggest year of bootlegging after prohibition was 1937 when 16,142 stills were seized. In 1943 it dropped to the lowest point with 5654 seizures.

Last year it rocketed to the post-war high of 10,177 seizures, with the expectancy for this year much greater and possibly very near the 1937 figure.

WOOD-BURNED stills, like the one in the Southern woodlands produced most of the bootleg whiskey since prohibition ended.

BIG ILLICIT STILL like the one above overshadow old stills, can turn out 500 gallons a day as this one did in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue and head of the ATU John B. Dunlap, in secret testimony to Congress, affirmed Sen. O'Connor's claim that the big syndicate bosses, with sharply curtailed gambling profits, were moving in on the bootlegging racket. He appealed for funds to hire more than the 900 agents now on the job to handle the new menace.

Alcohol law enforcement officers of six eastern states recently organized into the Alcoholic Beverage Tax Administrators Conference to fight for lower whiskey taxes, and to cooperate on better methods of law enforcement.

John F. O'Connell, a member of the new ABTAC and chairman of the New York State Liquor Authority says: "That illicit distilling has now reached the stage of an industrialized business is indicated by the size of some of the stills seized in New York recently. One raided in Center Moriches, L. I., had a daily capacity of 2500 gallons. One in the Bronx had a daily capacity of 1000 gallons."

Reports similar to this are coming from many states. The traditional pattern of local moonshining in the hills is changing rapidly with interstate operations. The sugar is delivered to the various stills in fleets of huge trucks. Sugar is the most important ingredient.

The trucks return loaded with the illicit booze. Some of the booze is handled through chains of dealers. Much of it is showing up in taverns and bars whose owners have connections with the syndicate.

The current price is between $5.00 and $10.00 a gallon for the moonshine. The federal tax on legal whiskey is more than that, now $10.50 per gallon. And then local taxes of from about $2 to $5 per gallon are on top of that. High prices on everything else, plus the high tax on whiskey, are credited with making bootlegging so attractive right now.

Since last November, when the federal tax was increased, there has been an actual decline of $172,000,000 in the amount of excise taxes collected by Uncle Sam.

Spokesmen for the distilling industries claim that if the tax was reduced from $10.50 per gallon to $6, a maximum of revenue would be taken by the government. And this, they say, would take the profit out of bootlegging and put the gangsters out of business.

So far none of the big boys who have deserted gambling for bootlegging have been caught, the ATU spokesman explains. They haven't been in the business long enough for ATU agents to get evidence on them. And because of the specialization those small-time employees of the syndicates who do get caught can only be charged with one count that usually calls for a relatively minor sentence.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE BAND PLAYS ON—There is nothing quite so lively to fill the heart with cheer, as a snappy band in uniform, playing loud and clear.

The above is more truth than poetry and we mean every word of it—poetry or not.

It has been our privilege these past few days to hear bands big and little, "sweet and brassy, good and mediocre and outstanding.

If Escanaba has gone slightly band crazy, as we hope it has, we are willing to climb aboard the town's band-wagon and go as far as the town wants to.

These sentiments are expressed in connection with the Saturday U. P. Band Festival that brought more than 1,000 school musicians here; and the Monday concert appearances of the U. S. Navy Band, sponsored by the Escanaba Band Boosters.

POPULAR SUPPORT—One of the rather amazing aspects of Escanaba's interest in bands is the organization named above—the Band Boosters.

It is composed of parents of boys and girls who play band instruments in Escanaba city schools, and its objective so far as we can determine is to help the schools produce the best band musicians in the nation. They also want the band to be well uniformed.

Altogether it is an impressive organization and belies the thought that parents want their children to receive only training in the Three R's in school.

If music training in the schools is a frill, then Escanaba parents are willing to finance the frill and embroider a little lace on it as well.

THE BUSY DAY—On Saturday, day of the U. P. School Band Festival, more than 1,000 student musicians from about 20 schools came to Escanaba to find how they were doing as bandmen.

The Festival is non-competitive but the bands play before trained judges who tell them where they are weak and how to improve their performance.

The scope of the Festival can best be realized with a visit to the scene. That's what we did on Saturday and found Robert S. "Bob" Meyer, Escanaba school band director and Festival chairman, working with one eye on the clock and the other on the day's program.

Saturday was the culmination of weeks and months of planning and rehearsal. Ten bands were playing during the day in Senior High auditorium, and 12 at Junior High school.

ALL SOUND GOOD—We wanted certain information from Chairman Meyer and discovered that he was in constant demand by other persons as well.

Band directors and students came to him concerning rehearsal room arrangements, where they were to be at a certain time, auditions for the opportunity to play with the U. S. Navy Band, and other matters in connection with the weekend of band music.

We met Dwight Dailey of the University of Michigan, one of the adjudicators for the Festival, who was listening intently to the Munising High school band playing on the Junior High stage.

Dailey made notes during the band's performance and when it had finished he dictated additional comment to the young woman stenographer who sat beside him in the auditorium balcony.

To our untrained ear all of the bands sounded good. Which probably accounts for our liking for band music and the fact that we were not asked to serve as a judge.

TURN ABOUT—We learned that Escanaba becomes the school band center of the Upper Peninsula every other year, alternating with Marquette. The two cities share the honor as Festival hosts because they both have the necessary facilities.

String sections of the school music departments also alternate between Marquette and Escanaba in annual U. P. festival. This year it is Marquette's turn while the bands meet here. The festival for strings is scheduled for May 3.

Music in the schools has become part of the training program in promptness, cooperative team work, and good citizenship. A not surprising development is the love of good music and the enjoyment of playing it.

Power With Words

QUESTIONS PRESENTED BY READERS

J. W. L., Belton, Mo.—The term "seed," now used in many kinds of sporting events, was first applied to tennis tournaments shortly after the turn of the present century. The meaning was to sort the contestants according to their skill, so that, in drawing for opponents, a novice would not be faced with an expert. "To seed" now means to arrange contestants or teams in such way as to avoid likelihood that the best players will meet in early contests or, in international games, that members of one nation will compete against each other.

Raleigh, N. C.—"The title of a poem by Conrad Aiken is 'Teletestai,' and the word also appears in the poem. Will you tell me what it means and to what it refers?"—B. E.

Answer—"Teletestai" is a Greek word, the third person singular of the perfect tense of the verb "teleo," to fulfill, accomplish. It is the word which, according to the Gospel of John, Christ uttered as He was dying on the Cross. It means, "It is finished."

San Bernardino, Calif.—"Please give the derivation of the word 'understand.' I can't imagine how it came to signify 'comprehend.'"—Mrs. L. W. B.

Answer—This is among many hundreds of words for which explanations have not been found. "Understand" can be traced back to Old English, but why "to stand under or beneath" acquired the meaning "to grasp the idea of; comprehend," is not known.

Six tons of dishes are washed annually by the average housewife, says a home specialist. After being left in the sink how long?

Duels Outlawed In U. S. A Century Ago

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The "coffee and pistols for two" of America's early days came into dim focus recently when attention was directed to Maryland's law prohibiting duels. The law is a sample of scores of obsolete edicts that officials contend should be wiped from the books of many states.

Wars between nations and blocs persist. But sword and pistol duels to settle individual differences of love, honor, and politics have been virtually extinct for a century in the Western world, where they once flourished, says the National Geographic Society.

Public opinion in America assigned such duels to the unenlightened past even before some state laws of pre-Civil War years ruled them out officially. Ridiculous aspects attended even the most famous duels.

Veep Vs. Governor

Imagine a carefully pre-arranged pistol duel today between the Vice-President of the United States and the Governor of New York. Exactly that transpired beside the Hudson River at Weehauken, N. J., in 1804.

Alexander Hamilton, New York's governor who had been George Washington's secretary of the treasury, was killed. Vice-President Aaron Burr, his opponent, was widely denounced for the outcome, although the duel had been conducted according to the rules and customs of the period.

Or imagine a duel today between two top U. S. Navy admirals, resulting in the death of one and the wounding of the other. Commodore Stephen Decatur, lionized as hero of the campaign against the Barbary pirates and of the War of 1812, died in 1820 following a duel at Bladensburg, Maryland, just northeast of the Nation's Capital. Terms arranged by the seconds called for pistols at eight paces, the short range being an accommodation to Decatur' near-sighted challenger, Commodore James Barron.

Again, imagine two Congressmen, barely acquainted and harboring no mutual ill will, shooting it out with rifles merely to comply with dueling customs. In 1838, William J. Graves of Kentucky, acting as second for a newspaper publisher, challenged

Jonathan Cilley of Maine, because of remarks the latter had made in a floor debate.

Newsman Often Involved

Exercising Congressional immunity—as is frequently done today—Cilley declined the challenge on the Constitutional grounds that he could not be held responsible on the outside for remarks made in Congress. Graves, nevertheless, felt compelled by romantic custom to regard the refusal as a personal insult, and challenged Cilley himself.

Cilley was mortally wounded on the third exchange of shots, and dueling was further discredited in the public eye. But duels were slow to die out. Newspapersmen along with lawyers and politicians were often involved, and weapons ranged from cavalry sabers to double barreled shotguns. Under the famous Dueling Oaks in New Orleans's City Park, where coffee and pistols for two had been served ten times on a single Sunday morning in dueling's heyday, a formal duel between rival newspaper editors occurred as late as 1889.

With mock seriousness a few months ago, responsible senators suggested a return to the practice as a cure for the rash of irresponsible statements made under the protection of Congressional immunity.

Having Babies Safer Than 20 Years Ago

DENVER —(AP)— An Arizona doctor says having a baby is eight times less dangerous for an American woman than it was only 20 years ago.

Dr. Preston T. Brown of Phoenix said in an interview that "A sensational development in the progress of American medicine" is responsible.

He said the national average is now less than one maternal death for each 1,000 live births. Up to 1930, the average was eight deaths of women during pregnancy or child birth for each 1,000 babies born.

Bishop Confirms Combined Class At St. Patrick's

The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D. D., Bishop of Marquette, administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 110 children of St. Ann's and St. Patrick's parishes at beautiful and impressive ceremonies last evening at 7:30 at St. Patrick's Church.

Assisting at the services were 26 members of the Catholic clergy of the Diocese.

The Rev. Matt LaViolette of Gladstone was deacon, the Rev. Arnold Thompson of St. Thomas Church, Escanaba, sub-deacon, and the Rev. Edward Mehlisch of Marquette and the Rev. Joseph Dunleavy of Bark River were masters of ceremonies. Minor officers were altar boys of the two churches.

The Very Rev. Martin B. Melican, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and the Rev. Clifford Nadeau, pastor of St. Ann's, sang the antiphons and responses before the confirmation rites. The processional hymn was "Sacrosancti Pontificis."

Boys in the class were attired in red confirmation robes and the girls were in white.

The altars of the church were artistically decorated with snapdragons in pastel shades arranged with the lighted candles. St. Patrick's senior choir sang the music of the service.

Monday morning members of the class were served a Communion breakfast at St. Patrick's parish hall.

AS WE LIVE

Running Away Won't Erase Your Trouble

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
(Q) "Would I be doing wrong by joining the army for four years of foreign service? I have been married and have a four-year-old daughter. I tried to keep my home together but my wife ran off and got a divorce. She married again before the ink was dry on the divorce papers. Since then, she has made life hard for me. Every time I meet someone nice and have a few dates, my ex-wife gets in touch with her and breaks up our friendship. She says she does not want to put a stepmother over her child, and she doesn't want to see me married again. I love my child and know she needs a mother's care. My child would be well taken care of if I went overseas."

(A) You will not solve your problem by running away from it. And, it will certainly be hard on your child to have both of her parents desert her, even if you arrange for her to have good care during your absence.

There are other men in a position to fight for their country and do not have the home responsibilities you have. Unless the war situation becomes worse than it is now, your daughter needs you more than your country does. Don't use this as an escape from a situation that has become difficult to handle.

Instead, take the bull by the horns and work out a solution to your problem. Your child needs a mother's care and you need help in bringing her up to be the woman you want her to be. That means remarriage, whether your former wife likes it or not. She should have nothing to say about the matter after leaving you and her child for another man.

So long as she makes trouble for you every time you go out with another woman, your best policy is to go to another community where she cannot keep tabs on what you are doing and make trouble every time you establish a relationship with another woman. So long as you remain where you are, you will be at her mercy. That is bad when you are dealing with a selfish and unscrupulous person.

There are plenty of good jobs all over the country at the present time. You might be able to arrange

If fire starts in your house, give the alarm promptly. Close doors, windows and transoms to prevent a draft. If the blaze is small, try smothering it with sand, a coat, rug, or blanket; or use water unless the fire is oil, grease or gasoline.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ole Strand of Ensign announce the engagement of their daughter, Inez, to William R. Cayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cayo of Iron Mountain. An August wedding is planned.

Stretch leftover ham by dicing it and adding it to a cream sauce with sliced hard-cooked eggs; serve over squares of hot split cornbread.

for a transfer with the company you now work for and thus have an established job to go to when you move. Or, you might go to another community where you have relatives or friends who can help you to get established. Your child is so young that moving to a new community will not be a hardship for her and it will eliminate the possibility of your former wife's meddling any further in your life and your child's.

Dr. Hurlock will help you in care of family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Droughts As Well As Floods Plague Missouri

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Big Muddy is rising!" Ever since pioneers first struggled up the Missouri River and built fur-trading posts on its banks, the cry has been heard.

The calamitous April surge of waters across bottom lands of the Missouri, the Mississippi, and their northern tributaries has caused damage to compare with that estimated in billions of dollars as a result of Missouri Basin floods in 1951 and 1947. In many lesser flood years, as well, the Missouri has been notorious for its havoc.

The Missouri River's watershed covers all Nebraska and large parts of eight other states, adding up to one-sixth of the Nation's area, notes the National Geographic Society. The fact that droughts as well as floods periodically plague the basin adds urgency to water resources control plans in a region that produces much of America's grain and meat.

Control Dams In Progress

A hundred small storage reservoirs already dot the upper reaches of the Missouri Basin, where local floods that make few national headlines account for a big part of the damage. Flood-retaining levees line both shores of the final 700 miles of the Muddy Mo's 2,500-mile course.

A unified plan of the Army Engineers, the Reclamation Bureau, and soil experts provides for 105 multi-purpose dams, 15 of which are built or in progress. As recently as last January, the President set up a Missouri Basin Survey Commission for further study of plans for the protection of the area's land and water resources.

Metal Recovery Is Planned In England

LONDON—(AP)—A British company hopes to recover 100,000 tons of iron, as well as large quantities of zinc and lead, during the next 20 years from huge, unsightly dumps left by smelter works on the outskirts of Swansea, Wales.

With the leveling of the mountains of slag, sites will be cleared for light and heavy industry.

A newly founded company, Western Metallurgical Industries, Ltd., is erecting a huge rotary kiln and other equipment bought in Belgium. It plans to employ about 200 men on the treatment of 1,500,000 tons of slag in the next 20 years, recovering 5,000 tons of iron a year.

Boy Chess Wonder Can't Read, Write

SEVILLE, Spain—(AP)—Sevillians were always proud of their bullfighters but now they claim Spain's youngest chess player, too. Andresito Garcia Quesada has not yet turned 5 and he can't read or write, but his chess playing is known throughout the country.

He's the son of a local barber who taught the boy to play chess six months ago. "In seven days he learned everything I know. Since then Andresito has consistently beaten me," the barber says.

Little black-eyed Andresito has defeated the top players of this city. The boy says he hopes to become world champion some day.

Too Much Fluoride In Japanese Water

TOKYO—(AP)—Japan is one country where they don't have to add fluoride to the water to stop tooth decay.

The welfare ministry says Japanese in 42 of Japan's 46 prefectures are drinking water with too much fluoride with the result that many have mottled teeth.

Japanese scientists did not find this out, however, until the government actually began a project in Kyoto Prefecture to add fluoride to drinking water. Scientists blame the fluoride condition of the water on Japanese volcanoes.

Have you ever crossed this bridge?

You almost certainly have crossed the Ambassador bridge if you live in Detroit, or have visited there. And you know the most remarkable thing about the Ambassador bridge is the service it gives to thousands of people daily, getting them where they need to go a shorter way in a shorter time.

An engineer could give you some spectacular facts about its size—its length, its height, its weight, the number of strands that make up its cables.

And you—without an expert's knowledge—could tell him that the bridge could actually take shape only through the initiative and imagination and effort of the thousands of workers who designed and built it. And that its dimensions were dictated by the needs of the people who use it.

In some ways, a big company is like a great bridge.

Take the Standard Oil Company, for instance...

It has 49,700 employees. Its total expenditure for employee wages and benefits last year amounted to $255,880,000.

It is owned by 116,800 stockholders. Its wells last year produced 6,990,000 net barrels of crude oil and natural gas liquids.

It refined 187,600,000 barrels of crude oil making some 2,000 different products.

Its sales last year amounted to $1,499,000,000, and its tax bill was $130,435,000.

In addition, it buys goods and services from thousands of business concerns each year.

It provides the products which are the source of income for many thousands of other independent businesses.

We could cite a lot of other figures that measure the size and structure of Standard Oil and its subsidiary companies—much like the technical statistics that describe a suspension bridge.

And the most impressive thing these figures would show is that Standard Oil is a big company, but like the great bridge, it is as big as it is in order to serve the needs of its customers. It has to be big in order to serve so many customers well.

Standard Oil Company

A BIG COMPANY depends upon the many people who work for it. Each of the 49,700 employees of Standard Oil, like L. L. Noel of our Neodesha, Kansas, refinery, are backed by an average investment of $31,400 in tools and equipment. This is largely made possible by the fact that in recent years two-thirds of our profits have been plowed back into the business. Such backing helps our employees to earn good wages and enjoy the security of steady work.

A BIG COMPANY is owned by many people. Among Standard Oil's 116,800 stockholder-owners is Miss Lottie Klandrud, La Crosse, Wisconsin, business woman who has owned Standard Oil stock for more than twenty years. No one individual owns so much as 1% of our stock. No one of the institutional owners—including many educational institutions and charitable organizations—owns so much as 4%. Standard Oil has paid dividends for 59 consecutive years.

A BIG COMPANY must continue to satisfy its many, many customers. Standard Oil has millions of customers like Mrs. Ruth B. Taylor of Kansas City, Kansas, who is a regular customer of George Isaacs, one of the thousands of Standard Oil dealers. Through the friendly and efficient service of independent businessmen like him, we supply our customers' needs with products—priced surprisingly low—that they can rely on for highest quality today, and tomorrow.

HARNISCHFEGER CORPORATION

reports on another year of growth and progress

The year 1951 was the 67th in the history of Harnischfeger Corporation. It was a year of achievement made possible by the wholehearted teamwork of our entire organization. With facilities operating at near capacity, shipment for all Divisions were valued at $62,090,551.

Our expansion of facilities included a substantial program of machine tool modernization at our main plants in Milwaukee... the enlargement of our two plants at Escanaba, Michigan... the completion of a new Diesel Engine Plant at Crystal Lake, Illinois... and the creation of the new Pacific Coast Division with manufacturing facilities for Overhead Cranes at Los Angeles, California. Today, the position of the company is stronger than ever from every standpoint.

Like so many other business firms, we have been deeply concerned over the excessive spending and taxing policies of our government, which are causing strong inflationary pressures. We earnestly hope for a reduction in non-essential spending, waste and inefficiency to lighten the burden of taxes, so that all business may go forward on a more basically sound national economy.

War Destroys Korean Schools

SAND AND STICKS become pencils and books for these Korean youngsters, whose school is where-ever teachers can find space to set up shop. Nearly half of Korea's schools have been destroyed.

By NEA Foreign Service
SEOUL, Korea—(NEA)—In the distance, the rattle of small arms fire was constant and nerve-racking. It might have been UN troops or Communist troops firing for practice—or it might have been a real and bloody skirmish.

Whatever it was, the young woman standing on the hillside did not stop talking. And the group of children squatting around her continued to listen.

The young woman was a Korean school teacher and the group of intent children were her pupils. The scene is repeated daily on dozens of similar hillside, as well as in river beds, parks, warehouses, public stairways and woodlands—in fact, wherever the teachers have been able to find space enough to set up shop.

In two years of fighting, nearly half of all the schools in Korea have been destroyed. Buildings that somehow managed to escape bombing and shelling by air forces and artillery were pock-marked and shattered in infantry skirmishes as the battle lines surged back and forth.

When peace talks began and the battle lines were stabilized about a year ago, Korea's Minister of Education, Dr. L. George Paik, ordered the republic's teachers to reopen their schools.

The teachers replied that there were no schools to reopen. Those that had not been destroyed were being used as hospitals, barracks and refugee camps. But Paik told them to set up classes anywhere they could find free space.

"They carried out the order literally," he says. And Korea's children are going on with their education, using little boards for desks, straw mats for chairs, and a patch of sandy ground and a stick instead of paper and pencils. Relief is on the way from America in the form of tents and "school units" sent by the Save the Children Federation.

The Korean children have accepted the improvised school program. After long months of danger, wandering and death, they have had to become experts in the business of staying alive.

As an illustration of their courage, Dr. Y. C. Yang, Korean ambassador to the U. S., tells of two orphans he saw in Seoul.

"Poking around in the ruins was an eight-year-old girl," he says. "On her back was strapped a four-year-old boy. A policeman asked if the boy was her brother. She said 'no'. She said her entire family had been killed in a bombardment that destroyed their home.

"When the raid was over, she found this little boy following her and crying. He said he had lost his father and mother and had nothing to eat and no place to go. So the little girl gathered the little boy up on her back and took him along with her. She hunted for food enough to keep them both alive. Then Seoul was recaptured and the friendly policeman found her and took them both to an orphanage."

VARIED DOGWOODS

The dogwoods comprise 40 different kinds of plants, chiefly trees and shrubs. They are distributed widely in temperate regions, and some of them yield a very hard and valuable wood. Fifteen species have been identified in North America.

Message Comes From Moscow Over Radio

MINOT, N. D.—(P)—Pete Mastel, a shortwave radio fan, was mentioned over Radio Moscow recently.

Mastel wrote Radio Moscow asking for a complete list of frequencies and times for English-language broadcasts. He also requested information about a giant bell in the Kremlin. Mastel's father had visited Moscow before World War I and described the bell as large enough to "drive a team of horses in through a crack in the side, turn around and come out again."

Radio Moscow soon replied by mail and over the air. Mastel was told the Czar Bell still stands in the Kremlin. "In the Soviet Union," I. Petrov of the letters department said, "items of historical significance are carefully preserved."

Old Pistol Found In Death Valley

SANTA ANA, Calif.—(P)—A geology student returned here from a recent visit to Death Valley with a cap and ball pistol, lost on the desert about 90 years ago.

Douglas Thamer says the gun, which bears the date, 1851, still operates and is in almost perfect condition.

Checking the pistol's history, Thamer says it was of a type issued to the U. S. cavalry after 1852. Further research showed a cavalry unit had passed through the barren Death Valley region in 1860.

High Fire Hazard Likely To Continue

Burning conditions on the Upper Michigan National Forest have reached the point where regular forest fire control positions have to be manned, it was announced in Escanaba today by Assistant Forest Supervisor Paul J. St. Amant.

Unexpected warm weather during the past few days has melted the heavy winter snows and exposed the grasses and weeds that died last fall. This has created a serious situation and will cause fires to burn hotter and more rapidly than normally. Trash and debris burning is extremely dangerous at this time and no burning of this kind should be attempted without first getting a permit from local Forest Service or Department of Conservation officers. Forestry officials expect forest fire conditions to remain serious for several weeks until there is general greening up of forest areas, which is expected the latter part of May.

The seasonal forest fire control force now entering on duty at the Rapid River District is: Headquarters Fire Guard, Shirley Sandstrom; Lookout Towermen, John Eskola, Stonington, Harry Sherwood, Moss Lake, and Robert Fox, Waco. At Munising the men are: Headquarters Guard, William Henriksen; Towerman, Waldo Ely, Wetmore, Earl Herrmann, Tie Hill, John Niemi, Forest Lake, and Leo Lammi, Johnson Lake. Herbert Popour is the Headquarters Guard on the Manistique Ranger District, and Eugene Scott is Towerman at Steuben Tower. The fire personnel at St. Ignace are: Headquarters Fire Guard, Albert Reynolds and Lookout Towermen, Carl W. Buckholz, Moran, Peter Simmons, Daggett, Louis Wartella, Maple Hill. At Racoon the seasonal fire force is: Headquarters Guard, Melvin Halfaday, and Towermen, Forrest Ladd, McNearney, Leamor Alcorn, Demond Hill, and Elwin Vanderstar, Mission Hill.

Disking Helps Reseed Trees

Disking, which is becoming an accepted practice among some managers of pulpwood lands in the Lake States to promote the regeneration of aspen stands, may also promote the seeding in of other species, reports J. H. Stoekeler, forester in charge of the Northern Lakes Forest Research Center at Rhinelander, Wisconsin.

An excellent example of such natural seeding was noted last year in a cooperative study made by the center on the industrial forest of the Rhinelander Paper Company. The disking was done in August 1950 in a thin, patchy stand of balsam fir and paper birch. A year later a stand of 307,900 new seedlings per acre was observed in the strips churned up by the disk. Of these, 288,600 were paper birch, 14,100 were balsam fir, 3,900 were red maple, 1,200 aspen, and 100 were spruce. Almost no seedlings came in on the undisked area.

Rather heavy mortality is to be expected, says Stoekeler, and is needed to thin out the seedlings. Heavy deer browsing is anticipated and is hoped for to reduce the ratio of birch to balsam fir, which is the more favored of these species for pulpwood.

This natural reseeding, says Stoekeler, was successful because of the combination of a bumper seed crop, adequate numbers of seed-bearing trees, the exposure of mineral soil shortly before seed fall, and abundant rain in the first growing season.

Of the 50 Democratic and Republican political conventions in the United States from 1854 through 1952, 21 have taken the political leaders to Chicago.

THIS IS THE hat-wearing cedar which the Conservation Department recently reported being found in Chippewa County by Goetzville lumbermen Robert Traynor and Henry Wajnaroski. This section was cut at a butt level 10 inches in diameter, and the now Bunyan-size hat now encircles the cedar at a height of 18 feet above ground. Annual rings indicate the tree age at about 71 years. The hat apparently was placed on the cedar by a lumberjack about a half century ago.

Aspen Should Be Thinned Early

Experiments in thinning 11 and 20-year old stands of aspen, carried on by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station in northern Minnesota, show that thinning at the earlier age is cheaper and more effective.

In the 11-year-old stand, thinning removed all except from 600 to 900 of the best trees per acre. In the 20-year-old stand, thinning removed only the trees that were interfering with selected crop trees. These were large enough so that they had to be cut with axes. As a result more time was required to thin the older stand even though far fewer stems were cut (288 as against 2,115 in the younger stand). Thinning of the younger stand required only 11.2 man-hours labor per acre, while that in the 20-year-old stand required 16.8 hours. Miron L. Heinselman, station forester who compiled the data on these experiments, points out that in addition to the saving in labor cost, the earlier thinning gave the stand 10 additional years in which to respond to management.

According to Heinselman, the project also indicated a need for a special tool for thinning small aspen. Several types of brush knives were used in thinning the younger stand, but, while all were superior to axes, none proved entirely satisfactory.

Planting Started In State Forests

LANSING—Planting of the first of some 3,500,000 seedlings in state forests has started, the conservation department reports.

Well underway is the planting of about 6,000,000 young trees in private reforestation projects. Landowners receive stock from department nurseries at cost for reforesting purposes only.

Stream Improvement Program Outlined

Six crews with a total of 30 men will begin stream improvement work on Upper Peninsula streams on May 1 or as soon after as stream water levels permit, the Regional office of the Conservation Department announces. Included in the work will be repair of old structures, installation of new ones and planting of jack pine and willows along the streams.

The East Branch Fox, Main Fox and the Little Fox Rivers in Schoolcraft County will get repair work, new structures and willow and jack pine plantings.

The Cut River in Mackinac county will get only repair work. The Middle Branch Ontonagon, Gogebic County, will get only willow plantings and the Ford River in Dickinson County will be checked for repair work and willow trees will be planted. The East Branch Ontonagon in Houghton County will get repairs and new structures installed.

In Keweenaw County the rainbow weir project on the outlet of Fanny Hooe Lake will be completed.

Installation of a checking weir above the main weir on the Black River in Mackinac county will be done this summer also.

Game experts say that fires kill more game than the hunters. Fire destroys the natural breeding places of birds and animals, often burns up nests, eggs, and even the young.

TREES... a cash crop

America has many kinds of land—some best suited for cultivated crops like corn or cotton, some best for growing trees. Both kinds can produce regular cash crops year after year. If protected from fire, insects and disease and harvested wisely, America's 461 million acres of commercial forest land will always produce the wood this nation needs.

Diller Cited For Heroic Service

A Commendation Ribbon with Combat "V" for meritorious and heroic achievements while serving with the First Marine Division in Korea has been presented to Sgt. Jack K. Diller, son of Ervin S. Diller, of Blaney Park, and grandson of Mrs. Laura G. Diller, 195 N. Cedar St.

Sgt. Diller, who returned from Korea several months ago, is now attending school in Rhode Island. He also has re-enlisted for six more years in the marines.

The citation awarding Sgt. Diller the ribbon follows:

"For excellent service in the line of his profession while serving in a marine infantry battalion during operations against the enemy in Korea from 15 November 1950 to 30 March 1951. Sergeant Diller, serving as an administrative clerk, displayed outstanding skill, courage and confidence in the performance of his duties. He worked long, tedious hours without regard for his own personal safety or fatigue. On one occasion, he voluntarily exposed himself to intense enemy fire to deliver a message from the battalion command post to a heavily engaged assault company. Subjected to enemy automatic weapons and small arms fire, he traversed the exceedingly adverse terrain and successfully delivered the message. His tireless devotion to duty, coolness under fire and high degree of professional competence were an inspiration to all who observed him and contributed materially to the success of the battalion. Sergeant Diller's conduct throughout was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Sale Of Consolidated Firm In 1915 Marked End Of Colorful Era

When I was catapulted into the management of the Consolidated Lumber Company in 1913 it was a pretty sick "baby". The National Bank of Commerce in Detroit had just protested a $15,000.00 note; we had lost the goodwill and respect of the old crowd and our customers. We owed $273,926.34 to banks and on open accounts, much of which was past due. Besides that we owed Weston and Edward Hines $180,000.00 for cash advances on lumber which was not being delivered according to contract either in quantity or quality; in fact, on August 1st we only had about 25% of the lumber called for in pile; the mill crews were nervous and edgy and had no confidence in the new foreman. Accidents and breakdowns were frequent and the mill was cutting only 70% of normal capacity, and the first installment ($50,000.00) of our bonds was due in less than 90 days. The general opinion was that receivership was inevitable and was only a couple of weeks off.

Quick Gives Advice
It was late in the evening when the emergency meeting of the directors closed. We arranged with Mr. Joy, president of the National Bank of Commerce, to extend the protested note for 30 days. The next morning I went to Mr. M. H. Quick and said, "Mr. Quick, I don't have to tell you about the fix we're in. I wish you would go down to the mill with me and tell me exactly what you would do in this situation."

He said, "Will, I'll be glad to tell you what I would do, and we don't need to go down to the mill. I would stop using that new horizontal re-saw which is degrading a lot of your good pine lumber; put the vertical re-saw, (which had fortunately been left in position), back in commission; give 'Drell' Carr his old job as band sawyer, and I would put Geo. Gayer in as mill foreman. That man Russell doesn't understand the mill or the timber and the men don't like him." I did exactly that. The atmosphere cleared immediately. The men caught the spirit, and in four days the mill was averaging 215,000 feet a day instead of 148,000 and there was no more "too thick" or "too thin" lumber.

Hires Frank Cookson
I also let Fred Cooper go at once and engaged Frank Cookson, giving him full and complete authority as general woods superintendent, and from that time on there was no more foolishness in that department.

After making these changes I took Geo. Gayer and got Charley Hall, one of Hines' field men, to go to Chicago with us to see Edward Hines who was on the war path. When we explained the changes we had made and what we were doing he not only extended our contract but gave us an additional advance and invited us out to Sunday dinner at his home in Evanston.

The weather that fall was a great break for us as we were able to run the mill up until after Christmas, over a month later than it had ever been run, with the result that we caught up on Weston's contract which greatly pleased them.

Other Properties Sold
Concurrent with this we carried on a campaign to sell the Ossa Hotel, the stores, houses, cut-over lands and other property not essential to the lumber business, with fairly good success.

The intake pipe leading from the dam at "Sart's" on the Indian River to the city water reservoir needed replacement. We made surveys and maps and laid out a tract of approximately 65 acres, including 15 acres donated by the Women's Club, as "Riverside Park" at the present intake and sold it to the city together with 410 H. P. potential water power in 1914 for $20,000.00.

Peoples Store Built
We sold the C. L. Store stock of merchandise to Lou Yalomstein who organized the Peoples Store Company and built the Peoples Store building at Oak and Cedar streets.

In 1913 when I assumed the unenviable job of manager of the Consolidated Lumber Co., its second preferred stock ($100.00 per share) was offered at $15.00 per share with no takers, and the company was only one jump ahead of receivership. By March, 1915, we had paid off $97,000.00 of the bonds, reducing the original issue of $350,000.00 to $253,000.00, and had net current assets of $140,881.60, at which time the company was sold to the Stearns interests of Ludington who paid $10.00 per share for the common stock which had originally been issued as a bonus to the preferred stockholders and which cost them nothing.

I never claimed any particular credit for this showing. If I am entitled to any credit it is for not thinking I knew all about the lumber business just because I had been given the job of managing a big lumber company. All I did was to put the old Chicago Lumbering Co. working organization back in charge and they worked it out. If Harmon had let them alone in the first place (at least until they had finished cutting the big pine), and had not made the costly mistakes referred to, the Consolidated Lumber Co. would have been at least $200,000.00 better off.

Sell Out To Stearns
When Stearns and W. T. Culver took over in 1915 the cream, the big pine, had all been skimmed off and it was from then on a hemlock and hardwood operation, but under vastly different and more difficult conditions than in these days of chain saws, bulldozers, paved roads, and modern logging trucks.

Stearns and Culver operated with varying success until they leased and then sold the mill and yards to the Stearns in 1922. Bruce Odell was their general manager, and they gave Harmon, (who kept his stock and stayed with them) a nominal position without any real authority. They sold the water power to the Minneapolis Tribune (Murphy) for around $75,000.00 but coincidentally contracted to deliver such a large amount of spruce pulpwood to the paper mill at such a low price that it absorbed all their profit on that deal. They sold their remaining assets at a "liquidation sale" in 1926.

The Stearns operated the mill for several years until they finally dismantled and sold it, and so the story of the "lumberjack" and big saw mill era in Manistique finally comes to an end.

STEADY UNLOADERS
Four thousand tons of coal can be unloaded from a ship within eight hours by the cranes, mechanical grabs, and conveyors at the electric power station on the River Thames at Barking, England.

About 340 tons of meal and 42,000 gallons of oil were produced as by-products of sealing operations on the Pribilof Islands in 1950.

Social

30th Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. John Patz, 202 N. 2nd St., were honored Friday evening when a group of friends gathered to help them celebrate their 38th wedding anniversary.

After a social evening lunch was served. There were approximately 30 relatives and friends present.

Open House
There will be open house at 119 River street all day Wednesday in honor of Charles Ekberg's 90th birthday anniversary. Friends and relatives may call at any time.

Sault Woman To Head Auxiliary
Onota Murphy Zimmerman, of Sault Ste. Marie, a former Manistique resident, was elected 14th district president of the VFW Auxiliary at a district meeting Sunday afternoon at the Gorsche building. She succeeds Ruth Johnson, of Ishpeming.

The district auxiliary sessions were held jointly over the weekend with the 14th district VFW encampment.

The new president will be installed at the June state encampment in Bay City.

Other district officers elected, and later installed by Department President Velma Kidd, of Ferndale, are as follows:

Senior vice president, Pearl Anderson, Newberry; junior vice president, Stella White, Ishpeming; treasurer, Myrtle Mortenson, Germfask; conductress, Darlene Jarvi, Rudyard; guard, Irene Howland, Manistique; chaplain, Irene E. Nayback, Rudyard.

The following appointments were made by the new president: Secretary, Mavene Speck, Sault Ste. Marie; patriotic instructor, Ruth Lahti, Negaunee; historian, Ora Ackerman, Manistique; musician, Jean Lustila, Germfask.

Third Quarter Fund Received
Third quarter sales tax diversion money, totaling $13,722, has been received from Lansing and distributed to the city of Manistique and the eight townships of Schoolcraft County, it is reported by Laura A. Williams, county treasurer.

Distribution in the county was made as follows:

Doyle, $834; Germfask, $904; Hiawatha, $966; Inwood, $1,008; Manistique, $880.50; Mueller, $633; Seney, $423; Thompson, $444; city of Manistique, $7,629.

Call Issued To School Golfers
First call for golfing candidates at Manistique high school was issued yesterday by Coach Ted Corombos.

Preliminary instruction in golf will be held at the old gymnasium until the Indian Lake Country Club's nine-hole course at Indian Lake is available for play.

Two inter-city golf matches are expected to be scheduled for later in the spring, Corombos reported yesterday.

City Briefs

Pfc. James Morrison, formerly of Gulliver, who was reported missing in Korea since July 5, 1950, was killed in action, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Morrison, of Big Bay, have been advised. The Morrisons are former residents of Gulliver.

Pfc. Morrison enlisted at Manistique on Dec. 18, 1948, on his seventeenth birthday. He was sent overseas April 1, 1949, and was in Japan in June, 1950, when the North Korean attack took place. He was sent to the front that month.

He is survived by his parents; two brothers, Hasty and Terry; his grandfather, Charles Morrison, of Gault City; and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hasty, of Huntington, Ind.

By action taken by the Board of Supervisors yesterday morning, the playing of baseball on the Court House grounds will be prohibited.

The board approved a motion, instructing the sheriff to ban all baseball at the site. Softball, however, will be permitted at the regular diamond at the northeast corner of the grounds.

Action to stop hard ball followed presentation to the board of a bill for damages caused by baseball players. The bill, presented by Mrs. Franklyn T. Burgess, 330 Walnut St., covered car and home windows broken by baseballs batted or thrown from the Court House area during 1951.

Further damage to private property by ball players on the Court House area may result in the banning of all types of ball playing there, supervisors indicated.

In This Corner

With Roy Crandall

Watch for an announcement on a coaching change in a leading Upper Peninsula high school this week (not Escanaba). There hasn't been a contract return as yet, we understand, but it is expected. School officials aren't releasing any names until the contract is back and we aren't using the name that has been rumored. But it looks like a pretty big story when it breaks, which may be late this week or early next.

Baseball in the Delta county area is getting closer every day. Little League and Pony League appear about ready for the coming season. We understand that four or five Pony League teams have sponsors to get the new organization on its feet. High schools are already under way in the area and the Tri County league meets for its final session at Wilson tonight at 8:30.

Once more we'd like to call attention to Tri County managers in regard to the season schedule which will probably be acted upon this evening. By all means get a compact and busy schedule that will conclude at the end of the natural baseball season. You'll find greater fan and player interest if you shorten the season and play a greater number of games in a short period. And remember that when football starts in the U. P. baseball becomes a dead issue for sports fans.

Cream of the Upper Peninsula high school tennis crop appears to be settled in Marquette. In the past 11 seasons Marquette has won 10 U. P. titles, missing only once since 1940 (except during World War II years when tournaments were not officially held). Milton Johnson has been the Marquette tennis mentor since 1940. This year he has four four-year men on his team.

Ginsberg Pops Back Into Tiger Picture

BOSTON—(AP)—Manager Red Rolfe's latest two-plate idea looks a little different. And it pops Joe Ginsberg right back into the varsity catching picture as the Detroit Tigers open their Eastern trip today.

Until now Red's two-plate experiments have been devoted to playing left-handed batters against right-handed pitchers and vice versa.

As his team prepared for its opener against the surprising Boston Red Sox today, Red explained his new two-plate catching deal:

Champions Fall In ABC Tourney

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Three of last year's kings fell by the wayside yesterday in firing at the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Included were the Stroh's Boemian Beers of Detroit, defending team all events champs, and two members of the team, Lee Jougard, 1951 singles king and holder of the alltime high ABC series of 775, and Tony Lindemann, whose 2,006 captured the individual all events crown at St. Paul, site of the 48th annual tournament.

That leaves only one defending champion in this 49th annual classic. C. B. O'Malley's Oldsmobiles of Chicago will attempt to break the "repeat" jinx May 13.

The best performance by any member of the Stroh quintet was recorded by Ed Lubanski, former co-holder of the world's match doubles championship. Lubanski, with 576 in team, 645 in doubles and a 678 singles count, hit 1,899, good for tenth place in all events.

His singles count, compiled on games of 233, 235 and 210, was the day's best.

Strohs, who had 9,506 last year. Finished with 9,003, far behind this year's team all events leader, Radiant Corp., Cleveland, which has 9,343.

Lindemann popped up yesterday with 1,735 on a 602 team count, 500 in doubles and a 633 singles. Steve Nagy of Cleveland holds the all events lead with 2,065. Jougard was able to spill a good 637 sticks, but far behind leader Albert Sharkey of Chicago, who has 758.

Other all events counts for the Strohs included Buzz Fazio's 1,817, Jougard's 1,735 and Pete Carter's 1,617.

Patty Berg Sets PGA Golf Record

RICHMOND, Calif. — (AP) — Two golf records and top money of $750 belonged today to smiling Patty Berg, winner of the Richmond Women's Open tournament.

The former Minneapolis girl star, now a playing professional out of St. Andrews, Ill., bagged the $3,000 event with a 54 hole total of 210 yesterday. It established a ladies PGA tournament record for a three round event.

She also set a woman's world record for a single competitive round. Her spectacular 64 Saturday slashed eight strokes off men's par 72 for the 6339 yard Richmond Country Club course. Women's par is 73.

Patty soared to 74 Sunday but finished with 72 for a four stroke lead over second place Betty Jamison of San Antonio.

Ted Williams To Be Honored

BOSTON—(AP)—Temperamental Ted Williams and Boston's rabid Red Sox rooters have scrapped often in the past, but tomorrow is Ted's day and the fans plan a rousing and sentimental sendoff for the Marine Corps - bound slugger.

Williams has heard jeers aplenty - sprinkled lightly with cheers - in his years with the Soxers. But this season the boos have been drowned out by the applause in his few appearances, curtailed by a pulled leg tendon.

The lanky home-run belter starts a tour of at least 17 months as a flying Marine captain Friday in Willow Grove, Pa.

Williams probably will be playing his final game for the Red Sox tomorrow. He'll be 34 next Oct. 30 and will miss both the 1952 and 1953 seasons, making him an old man by baseball standards in 1954.

Ted worked out yesterday and had no trouble from the injured leg. Manager Lou Boudreau said he won't know until game-time whether the big slugger will start against the Detroit Tigers in the opener of a two-game series. But the fans know that given any chance at all, Williams will be in action for these two final contests.

The presentation program won't be elaborate, since Williams was against such an idea. But fans, Red Sox players, business people and civic officials have joined in a list of gifts topped by a wrist watch for Ted. His young daughter, Bobby-Jo, will receive a doll carriage and bicycle, and his wife will be given flowers and other remembrances.

Governors of the six New England states also will send gifts.

There has been considerable interest displayed this year in scheduling mid-week games in the Tri County league. Most managers seem in favor of slating four or five middle of the week twilight games in order to bring the schedule to a close before cold weather sets in.

The Tri County league, of which the Escanaba Bears won the regular season and playoff championships last year, extended well into the football season before concluding late in September last season.

Managers are expected tonight from Escanaba, Wilson, Bark River, Hermansville, Powers, Spalding, Foster City, Stephenson, Daggett, Perronville and Wallace.

League officers and board of directors met earlier this month and approved Tri County by-laws from last season.

Attendance of league managers is required at the meeting tonight; Bagley stated. Date of the opening of league play will be decided and a schedule drawn up.

Marquette Net Team Wins 4-2

Escanaba and Marquette hooked up in a dual high school tennis match here yesterday afternoon, won by the visiting Redmen 4-2, that was capped by a bitter singles battle called off at 8 o'clock by darkness.

The final match pitted Bill Brumm of Marquette against Tom Fisher of Escanaba. Brumm carried the first set 12-10 and the second was knotted at 12-12 when it became too dark for the players to continue.

Coach Frank Miketnac's Eskymos copped their two points on a doubles win by Fisher and Con Desilets and a singles victory by Desilets. The Esky doubles team beat Dan Bocklund and Jim Schneider in two sets, 9-7 and 6-3. Desilets defeated Evan Karabetsos 6-3, 4-6 and 6-2.

Marquette points were scored by Brumm and Karabetsos in a doubles win over Dick Peterson and Dick Noon, 6-4 and 8-6, and singles wins by Jim Schneider over Ted Sogard 6-3 and 7-5; Bocklund over Peterson 1-6, 6-4 and 6-1; Dean Benson over Jim Timms 6-2 and 11-9.

It was the first match for both schools this season. Both teams showed lack of condition and practice expected at this stage of the season.

Escanaba will return the trip to Marquette's courts on Tuesday, May 6.

Baseball Briefs

ST. LOUIS — (AP)—The first sure sign that things are getting down to normal in major league baseball came today when Stan Musial entered the top ten in batting for the first time this year. "The Man" is listed 10th among the National league leaders with 13 hits in 40 at bats for a .325 percentage. In last night's loss to the Chicago Cubs, Musial went 2-for-3.

ST. LOUIS — (AP)—Frankie Baumholtz, 32-year-old Chicago Cub outfielder, currently is tearing the National league apart. After helping his team beat the St. Louis Cards, 4-3, last night by unloading a double and a triple in three times at bat, he stands atop the circuit with a .422 average. He also leads with 19 hits, is fourth in RBI's with 11, and is tied for third in doubles with four and for first in triples with two.

Bill Reed, rookie infielder for the Boston Braves, was the Wisconsin state tennis singles champion in 1939, '40 and '41.

He blamed college authorities, alumni and coaches for the widespread corruption and labelled the attitude of many bigtime coaches as "despicable."

Spivey was indicted for perjury by the New York grand jury yesterday and District Attorney Frank S. Hogan issued a warrant for his arrest.

The indictment charges Spivey with falsely denying he discussed deals with alleged fixers and accepted $1,000 in the winter of 1950-51 to arrange the point spread of games. The district attorney said Spivey's testimony in a voluntary appearance here in February was not borne out by that of the others questioned.

Several hours before the Hogan announcement of perjury charges, Spivey, two other former Kentucky performers and four former Toledo University players were mentioned in indictments filed against four alleged fixers.

The Kentuckians were Walter Hirsch and Jim Line, the latter, a part-time assistant to Coach Aolph Rupp in 1950-51. The four Toledo players were William Walker, Carlo Mazzi, Robert McDonald and Jack Feeman, accused of being involved in three fixed games between September, 1950, to January, 1951.

The allegations were contained in new indictments filed against Joseph Benintende and Eli (Kaye) Klukofski of New York and Jack West and Jack Rubinstein of Brooklyn.

$1,000 To Spivey

The indictment against West charged he, Line and others conspired to bribe Kentucky players during the 1950-51 season. Hogan said at a meeting in Cincinnati in January, 1951, West gave money to Line to be divided among Line, Spivey and Hirsch. Line gave $1,000 to Spivey and $800 to Hirsch, the DA added.

This payoff was made, Hogan said, for "going under the points" in the 1950 Sugar Bowl game between Kentucky and St. Louis, won by St. Louis 43-42. Spivey, Line and Hirsch also conspired with West to shave the points in the De Paul and Notre Dame games in January, 1951, the DA said.

Esky Baseball Opener Is Set For Thursday

Coach Jim Rouman's Escanaba Eskymo baseball team opens the 1952 high school diamond season in a home stand Thursday afternoon against the Marquette Redmen.

The game will get under way at 3:30 at the city diamond behind the high school football stadium.

The Eskymos, only undefeated baseball team in Upper Peninsula high school ranks last season, are bolstered by the return of four lettermen. Back in action for Coach Rouman will be Paul Davidson, Warren Johnston, Paul Gundersman and Jack Chriske. A newcomer on the squad, Fred Boddy, is a transfer from St. Joe where he served as a frontline moundsman.

One Practice Game

A large field of candidates has been pared down to working size and the Eskymos have been hitting heavy practice sessions the past several weeks. Only game competition came in a practice affair last week against Bark River High School. Escanaba won the informal contest 1-0.

The team which won eight straight for Coach Rouman last season has been considerably depleted by graduation. The entire infield except for Gundersman graduated. Among those lost were Tom Kroll, Roland McMillie, Dick Whitney and Jim Nyquist.

Chriske was the No. 1 Eskymo hurler last season. He was unbeaten and tossed a no-hitter against Negaunee.

Little is known of the strength of Mike Craze's Marquette club this season but the Redmen are usually well represented on the baseball field.

Tentative Schedule

The Eskymos have a tentative schedule of games set as follows: May 1—Marquette here May 5—Negaunee there May 15—Ishpeming here May 19—Marquette there May 24—Negaunee here May 29—Ishpeming there

In addition to the above schedule the Eskymos will schedule St. Joe and also Gladstone High School if arrangements can be made with the latter team.

The season's opener Thursday afternoon will be a "booster" game and a large attendance is expected.

Candidates are battling for starting positions which will be announced tomorrow by Coach Rouman.

Run Of Roses Giant, Midget Meet In Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—The giant and the midget of the 78th Kentucky Derby, both financially and physically, meet for the first time in the mile of the $10,000 added Derby trial at Churchill Downs.

And it isn't likely to be another David and Goliath story although more fantastic things have happened in a sport once reserved only for kings.

Hill Gail, pride of Mrs. Warren Wright's fabulous Calumet farm in the blue grass of Kentucky, is the giant. He is not only the largest Derby hopeful at well over 16 hands, but is the 6 to 5 favorite to measure 11 other three-year olds in the trial and establish himself as the public's choice in Saturday's $100,000 mile and one-quarter run around the Downs' flower-bordered racing strip.

Little Gift Silver

One of the 11 is Gift Silver, a mate of a horse owned by Odie Newell, an Ottumwa, Iowa, railroad engineer.

Unlike Hill Gail, this little product of an Iowa equine romance never has heard the roar of a crowd such as will greet today's winner and multiply many times by the crowd of 100,000 expected to jam the Downs on Saturday for the first Derby to be televised nationally.

In fact Gift Silver never has raced unless you call it a race the time his mother, Nylon Lady, finished second on an Iowa bush league track while carrying the son of Drift Silver. It was only a few weeks ago that the smallest Derby candidate knew what a starting barrier looked like.

Aracaro Up

Hill Gail's dam, Jane Gail, was brought to the court of Bull Lea, one of racing's outstanding stallions. Gift Silver's mother while still only two years old carried on a clandestine affair with the little known Drift Silver. It was sometime later before Newell found his mare was in foal.

The Calumet cannonball, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, will be ridden today and on Saturday by Eddie Aracaro, the nation's top stake rider and winner of four derbies. Willie Perez, a Louisville high school student with practically no experience, is down to pilot Gift Silver today.

Who will ride the little Iowa horse on Saturday is a question. In fact it is a question whether he'll be among those parading to the post at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, while the band plays "My Old Kentucky Home." It all depends on today's race.

All-American Spivey In Fix Scandal

BULLETIN

NEW YORK — (AP)—Suspended sentences were given today to three former University of Kentucky varsity basketball players who pleaded guilty to conspiring to shave points in a National Invitation Tournament game in Madison Square Garden in 1949. The three players sentenced were Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable.

NEW YORK — (AP)—The University of Kentucky, famed for its championship basketball teams, felt the full brunt today of game-fixing reverberations rocking the college sport.

One of the university's all-American stars, seven-foot Bill Spivey, faces charges in spite of repeated protests of innocence. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment or $5,000 fine, or both.

Three other Blue Grass greats—Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable—awaited sentencing in general sessions court after pleading guilty earlier to charges of conspiring with gamblers to fix a national invitation tournament game in 1949.

All-Americans

Groza and Beard, like Spivey, were all-America selections and they were spearheads of Kentucky's "fabulous five" team which represented the United States in the 1948 Olympics at London.

On a conspiracy charge, they may be sentenced to serve up to three years in the New York City penitentiary.

College athletics in general may be in for another broadside blast from Judge Streit when punishment for basketball's law-breakers is headed down in the general sessions chambers.

It was Streit, a tall, dapper bachelor of 53, who stunned the nation's colleges with charges of "commercialism and over-emphasis" last November when he sentenced gambler Salvatore Solazzo to a long prison term and gave jail sentences to five former players.

He blamed college authorities, alumni and coaches for the widespread corruption and labelled the attitude of many bigtime coaches as "despicable."

Two Oldsters Pacing Chicago's White Sox

Critical Period For Rookies Now At Hand

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The critical period is at hand today for major league rookies as eastern and western teams clash for the first time in the infant 1952 season.

Within the next fortnight the strategists must decide on the players they will retain for the long haul.

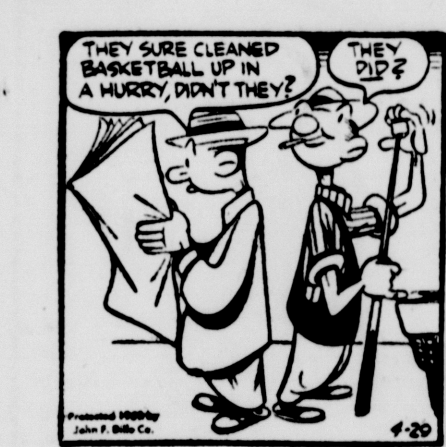

The ax will fall from now until May 15, the final day for trimming the rosters to the required 25 players.

The battle for survival among the greenhorns, and the early season upstarts—the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs—will command the fans' attention during the next 10 days.

Rain, Go Away

American league teams invade the east, hoping that the rain, which has kept the clubs on the Atlantic seaboard in drydock for virtually a week, will subside. Meanwhile, the National league's eastern teams gladly left their water-logged parks for the west.

Indianapolis Leader To Seek More Speed

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—Lou Moore, who built three of the last five winners of the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, has decided to go along with a trend for more speed.

He has beefed up and souped up the two front-drive Blue Crown specials. Mauri Rose of Los Angeles, now retired from racing, won the 1947 and 1948 Memorial Day events in one of them. And Bill Holland won the 1949 race in the other.

Holland has been under suspension from the American Automobile Association for the last two seasons for competing in non-AAA races.

Two Newcomers

So Moore is putting two first-time competitors at the speedway, Johnnie Tolan of Denver and Leroy Warriner of Indianapolis, aboard the hopped-up four cylinder cars. Both are veterans of the dirt and asphalt tracks.

He also is shifting from gasoline to alcohol as fuel for more speed. Moore also has made several other changes, all on the theory that the record-cracking 1951 "500" was the beginning on a new era in big car racing.

Last year's race was run at such a pace that only eight of the 33

Manager Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Browns, boasting a 7-3 record, open in Yankee Stadium today. Left Bob Cain (2-0) has been selected to pitch against the Yanks' Vic Raschi (2-0).

Boston's frisky Red Sox entertain the resurgent Detroit Tigers; Cleveland's highly-regarded Indians invade Philadelphia, and the Chicago White Sox, last year's spring sensations, take on the Senators in Washington.

Boston (9-2) will be seeking to strengthen its hold on first place, while the Browns will be out to prove that their sensational early season spurt was no flash-in-the-pan.

In the National league, Brooklyn's pace-setting Dodgers clash with the Cards in a night game at St. Louis while New York is at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Chicago and Boston at Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers, idle for a week, won 30 games and lost only 14 in the west last year. Brooklyn found the Cards easy pickings, winning 18 out of 22 games for the season.

Simmons Ready

Curt Simmons, returned from army service, is expected to make his first start since 1950 for the Phils in the Cub series. The fledgling Pirates, moored in last place, will attempt to break a nine game losing streak against the Braves.

In the only game played yesterday, the Cubs tied Cincinnati for second place by shading the Cards, 4-3, under the lights at St. Louis. Hank Sauer drove in all of Chicago's runs, two on a first-inning homer. Harry Brecheen, former Cub tormentor, was the loser.

The only scheduled game in the American league, between New York and Washington, was rained out.

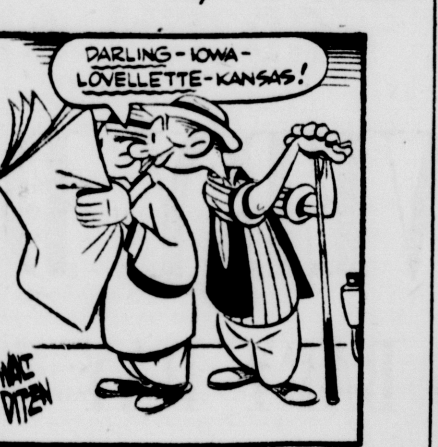

Cincinnati, tied with Chicago for second place, will be out today to avenge its dismal performance against the Giants last season. The Giants captured 17 out of 22 games from the Reds in their miracle drive to the flag.

The Cubs, cellar tenants in 1951, are in contention thanks to some lusty hitting on the parts of Frank Baumholtz and Ransom Jackson. Baumholtz, a .284 hitter last year, is the National's top batter and Jackson is among the home run leaders.

Louisville Takes Top Spot In AA

(By The Associated Press)

The red-hot Louisville Colonels, registering the first shutout of the American Association season behind the pitching of rookie Al Curtis, blanked Indianapolis 3-0 Monday night and moved into the league lead.

It was Louisville's ninth win against three losses and gave the Colonels a 1/2 game lead over the Milwaukee Brewers who were waylaid 9-6 by Kansas City.

Columbus ended Toledo's four-game victory streak 6-3 as Pat Patrick spaced seven hits and struck out nine. The Red Birds broke a 3-3 deadlock in the seventh with three runs on a cluster of four hits.

A triple in the last of the eighth by Ed Amoros, who scored on Danny Ozark's long fly, gave St. Paul a 5-4 win over Minneapolis.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, who is not the heavyweight champion any more, begins training on Thursday for a fight with Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia on June 6.

It seems that Walcott now holds the title, having knocked out Charles in a battle at Pittsburgh in July of last year. This will come as a surprise to many fans who were away on vacation at the time and who still recognize Ezzard as the champ.

They say Walcott has made less out of the crown than any champion of the modern era, possibly barring Primo Carnera, who was not permitted by his managers to open a checking account. The old pappy fighter has, however, made scores of appearances at charitable institutions and before church groups and has in general won his laurels well, if anonymously.

Despite anything you might have read to the contrary, the Derby trial at Churchill Downs today does nothing except confuse the issue. If you are looking for the winner of the big race on Saturday, pay the trial no mind whatever. Why they call it the trial is one of those sweet mysteries. It is run over a distance of one mile, which is a long quarter less than the Derby route. The horse which flies under the wire first in the trial will, more than likely, develop the blind staggers when they ask him to put in a little overtime four days later. The nag to watch is the one which comes in fifth today, looking innocent.

The best story in Frank Graham's new book, "The New York Giants," we think, tells of the first time young Willie Mays of the Giants came to bat in Brooklyn last year. Roy Campanella, the Dodgers' great Negro catcher, asked Willie what he thought of Preacher Roe, who was curving 'em for the Brooks.

"He's a mighty good pitcher, Mr. Campanella," Willie said. "You're lucky today," Roy said. "Wait 'til you get Don Newcombe tomorrow. He hates colored rookies. He'll blow you down."

Graham, probably for lack of space, neglected to relate how the mischievous Campanella kept tossing dirt into Willie's shoes just as the ball was delivered. Willie complained to his manager, Leo Durocher, and next time he came up told the bulky backstop:

"Mr. Durocher says if you do that again for me to throw a handful of dirt in your face, Mr. Campanella."

"That's fine, Willie," Roy said. "Any time you feel like dying, you just do that." Willie, it is recalled, went hitless his first 21 times at bat in the big show.

Wilbur Shaw, head of the Indianapolis speedway, was in town recently whooping it up for his 500-mile classic on Memorial Day.

He was asked why he didn't install a couple of hundred mutual windows and really make a killing.

"We thought of it," Shaw grinned, "but then we got to thinking about that 1947 race: If something like that ever happened again they'd tear down our grandstand."

He's right. The '47 race was the one in which young Bill Holland, supposedly having misread some instructions from his pit, pulled up toward the end and lost an almost certain victory to his teammate, Mauri Rose.

Confirm Large Class On Sunday

At impressive ceremonies Sunday evening in All Saints Catholic church, 95 boys and girls and a fair sized group of adults were confirmed.

The sacrament was administered by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, assisted by members of the Escanaba deanery.

Before conferring the sacrament, Bishop Noa conducted a public examination of the class. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament concluded the service. Music for the service was provided in able manner by a choir composed of 5th and 6th graders.

During the rites Fr. O'Neill D'Amour served as deacon and Fr. Arnold Thompson as sub-deacon. Fr. Jas. Dunlavy, Bark River, and Fr. James Donnelly, Marquette, were masters of ceremony.

Among other members of the Escanaba deanery participating were the Very Rev. Martin B. Melican and Frs. This is set at $400,000 and Chairman Brewer is confident this can be raised through contributions if proper cooperation is given.

A 60-bed facility is planned. At least half, possibly 60 per cent of the cost, is expected to be received from federal aid through the Hill-Burton Act.

Cow Killed By Car In Crash Near Osier
A Holstein cow owned by John S. Storch, Osier, was killed when struck by an auto driven by Alice Terry Sattler, 28, Detroit, Saturday night on US-51 a short distance north of the Delta county line.

State Police who investigated learned that the cow got out of the barnyard and was on the highway. As the auto driven by Miss Sattler approached dogs chased the cow and it ran directly into the path of the car.

Damages to the auto were estimated at $600.

Foster Home Picked For Two Sons By Dying Mother, 44

DULUTH, Minn.—(AP)—Two boys whose mother faces death from cancer in a few weeks have the new home she wanted for them.

Mrs. Evelyn Paro, attractive 44-year-old brunette, Saturday chose Mr. and Mrs. Warren Moore as the foster parents for her two sons, Gerald, 6, and Gordon, 9.

Moore is a state representative and a civic and business leader in Duluth. The Moore's have four grown children. Gordon and Gerald will take the Moore surname and their mother's maiden name, Englund, for a middle name.

The choice was made from more than 300 offers which poured in after Mrs. Paro appealed to the Duluth Herald and News Tribune for help in finding a new home for the boys. She is divorced and doesn't know where her former husband is.

The boys will stay with their mother as long as possible before joining their foster-parents.

REVERSED HEAD
President Truman adopted a new Presidential flag, with a redesigned Presidential seal, on Oct. 26, 1945. Up to that time, the head of the American eagle on the seal had been turned toward the talon holding the arrows of war. Truman had the head reversed so that it faces the talon with the olive branch.

Chicoagoan Of The Year Is A Rescued Derelict

AWARD WINNER—Capt. Thomas Crocker, "Chicoagoan of the Year," leads men in prayer before a meal at Salvation Army.

AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—It's a big jump from derelict to a citizen-of-the-year award but Thomas Crocker made it.

Crocker, 57, today is a Salvation Army captain, but he was a "hopeless" alcoholic in Detroit in 1939. He recently received the 1951 "Chicoagoan-of-the-Year" award by the Junior Association of Commerce and the Chicago Sun-Times.

The award recognizes his outstanding work in rehabilitating other alcoholics in Chicago's notorious "Skid Row," a derelict-strewn area centered around West Madison Street, six blocks from one of the world's busiest intersections in downtown Chicago.

Capt. Crocker is commanding officer of the Salvation Army's Harbor Light Corp., a two-story building in the heart of the "Skid Row" district.

Bums Get Attention

Whenever one of the estimated 35,000 bleary-eyed, grimy, tattered bums who live on the "Row" come in to see Capt. Crocker, he gets more than advice. First he gets a bath. Then his clothes are fumigated and cleaned or he gets new ones if need be. He gets a warm meal and a bed. The mission feeds over 700 men a day.

And when Capt. Crocker talks about liquor, the bum listens because he knows the captain "beat the rap" himself.

"I was like the others, a slave to booze," he says in talking of his own experience. "I'd awaken with a jerk and shout. When the Salvation Army workers gave the call during a meeting, I realized it was the last hope, and I cried my heart out to God."

Ex-Derelict Prayed

"I prayed and had a feeling of peace. The Salvation Army was good to me and gave me bread and shelter. The Lord gave me strength or I wouldn't be here today," he said.

Capt. Crocker has rebuilt some 5,000 of these men who live mostly on drink. The only questions asked by the Salvation Army are the man's name, address, and what kind of work he does.

"I believe a man should work, if he is able," Capt. Crocker said. "It keeps his mind occupied and he isn't so apt to slip back into alcoholism. I deal with thousands of drunks and I don't think they are entirely cured with medicine."

1939 Turning Point

"Detroit's Salvation Army Bowery Corps helped me to get on my feet," he said. That was in 1939; two years later Crocker was in charge. It was here he met his wife, Dora, a Salvation Army captain. They were married in September, 1942, a month after he became a captain—one of the few to attain such rank without special training.

Capt. Crocker opened the Los Angeles Harbor Light Corps in 1947 and the one in Chicago the following year. In his Chicago post he has handled an average of 350 "cases" a month for the past two years, referred to him by the municipal courts. He says 65 per cent of the alcoholics entering their rehabilitation program make the grade.

Capt. Crocker recalled his own shaky start. "I got a job at $2 a day carrying shingles. After two weeks at that job, my employer walked out and never paid me. Now wasn't that a great thing to happen to a former alcoholic and not have him go back to the bottle?"

Distinguished Company

As Chicago's No. 1 citizen for 1951, Capt. Crocker joins such distinguished company as scientist Dr. Julian Percy and educator Robert Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago, winners of the award the two previous years.

"The fear of all former alcoholics of 'falling off the wagon' appar-

Smog, a combination of smoke and fog, consists of 50 different substances, says Dr. A. M. Zarem, of the laboratory. These sub-

Chrysler V-8 Saratoga Sedan, gasoline economy winner in Class "F". Entered and driven in the 1952 Mobil Oil Gas Economy Run by Chrysler Dealer Mel Aisbury, Hollywood. It was one of three Chrysler FirePower V-8's to win in their respective classes.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines!

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145 1/2-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel these substantial cars at this speed under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here in the FirePower V-8 engine is the finest and most efficient engine ever put into an American passenger car!

WE INVITE YOU TO DRIVE THIS ENGINE, YOURSELF...

The same engine which has just scored these remarkable accomplishments is no farther from you than your own Chrysler Dealer. He will welcome the chance to let you take the wheel and feel for yourself what Chrysler has done... not only in engine performance, but in power steering, power brakes, new shock absorbers, passenger comfort... to deserve the title: "Finest Car America Has Yet Produced!"
